YOUR NAME AND YOUR COAT OF ARMS -- -- Priceless Gifts From History

Until about 1100 A.D. most people in Europe had only one name (This is still true in some primitive countries today). As the population increased it became awkward to live in a village wherein perhaps 1/3 of the males were named John, another sizable percentage named William, and so forth.

And so, to distinguish one John from another a second name was needed. There were four primary sources for these second names. They were: a man's occupation, his location, his father's name or some peculiar characteristic of his. Here are some examples.

Occupation: The local house builder, food preparer, grain grinder and suit maker would be named respectively: John Carpenter, John Cook, John Miller, and John Taylor.

Location: The John who lived over the hill became known as John Overhill, the one who dwelled near a stream might be dubbed John Brook or perhaps John Atbrook.

Patronymical: (father's name): Many of these surnames can be recognized by the termination---son, such as Williamson, Jackson, etc. Some endings used by other countries to indicate "son" are: Armenian's---ian, Dane's and Norwegian's ---sen, Finn's---nen, Greek's---pulos, Spaniard's---ez, and Pole's---wiecz . Prefixes denoting "son" are the Welsh---Ap, the Scot's and Irish---Mac, and the Norman's---Fitz. The Irish O' incidentally denotes grandfather.

Characteristic: An unusually small person might be labeled Small, Short, Little or Lytle. A large man might be named Longfellow, Large, Lang, or Long. Many persons having characteristics of a certain animal would be given the animal's name. Examples: a sly person might be named Fox; a good swimmer, Fish; a quiet man, Dove; etc.

In addition to needing an extra name for identification, one occupational group found it necessary to go a step further. The fighting man: The fighting man of the Middle Ages wore a metal suit of armor for protection. Since this suit of armor included a helmet that completely covered the head, a knight in full battle dress was unrecognizable. To prevent friend from attacking friend during the heat of battle, it became necessary for each knight to somehow identify himself. Many knights accomplished this by painting colorful patterns on their battle shields. These patterns were also woven into cloth surcoats which were worn over a suit of armor. Thus was born the term, "Coat of Arms."

As this practice grew more popular, it became more and more likely that two knights unknown to each other might be using the same insignia. To prevent this, records were kept that granted the right to a particular pattern to a particular knight. His family also shared his right to display these arms. In some instances, these records have been preserved and/or compiled into book form. The records list the family name and an exact description of the "Coat of Arms" granted to that family.

Interest in heraldry is increasing daily. This is especially true among people who have a measure of family pride and who resent attempts of our society to reduce each individual to a series of numbers stored somewhere in a computer. In our matter-of-fact day and age, a "Coat of Arms"is one of the rare devices remaining that can provide an incentive to preserve our heritage. We hope you'll agree that it is much more than just a wall decoration.

If you are interested in a more in-depth study of the subject of this paper, may we suggest you contact the genealogical department of any fair-sized public library. We especially recommend the "Dictionary of American Family Names" published by Harper & Row and also "The Surnames of Scotland" available from the New York Public Library as excellent sources on the meaning of surnames.

Hoy

Historiography

The Hoy Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Hoy Coat of Arms design can be found in Burke's General Armory. Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Chequy or and gu. a lion ramp. ar."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

"A dexter arm embowed, couped above and near the elbow, holding in the hand a sword all ppr. pommel and hilt or."

When translated the blazon also describes the original colors of the Hoy Arms and Crest as it appeared centuries ago.

Family mottos are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times. A Motto was not recorded with this Hoy Coat of Arms.

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification. The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name, or personal characteristics. The surname Hoy appears to be both locational and patronymical in origin, and is believed to be associated with the Chinese, English, and Irish, meaning, "dweller at, or near a bluff or hill", and "grandson of Eochaidh (horse-man)." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurrence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations of Hoy to be Hoye, Hoyt, Hoit, Hoie, Eochidh, Hoyet, Hoiet, Hoyes, Hoyts, Hoits, Hoies, Hoyets, Hoiets, and Hoys . Although bearers of the old and distinguished Hoy name comprise a small fraction of the population there are a number who have established for it a significant place in history. They include: THOMAS HOY (1659-1718) English physician and poet of great merit. ANDREW von HOY (Hoye), was a Flemish-Latin poet and historian who was born in 1551 and lived until 1631. WILLIAM ELLSWORTH HOY (1862-1961) He was a noted baseball player who was known by his nickname of "Dummy", and who, from 1888 to 1902, a period of 14 years, played admirably in the Major Leagues. HENRY MARTIN HOY (Hoyt) (1830-1892) Direct descendant of SIMON HOY (Hoyt) who settled in Massachusetts in the year 1629. HENRY was a teacher for a number of years, and later entered into the practice of law, being admitted to the bar in 1853. In 1867, he was appointed a temporary Judge for Pennsylvania, but at the time of the elections, was defeated. Two years later, he was appointed Collector of the Internal Revenue Service for the Counties of Tuzerne and Susquehanna; and, in 1878, was elected Governor of the State of Pennsylvania. JOSEPH GIBSON HOY (Hoyt) (1815-1862) Educator who, from 1840 to 1858, was Instructor of Mathematics and Natural Philosophy at Phillips Exeter Academy. In 1859, he became both Chancellor and Professor of Greek for the Washington University in St. Louis, and it was in this position that he served until his death.

THE NAME HOY

Hoy, Haey, or Hoye is the English version of Hoe and the name is found in Scotland, England, Ireland, and China.

The name Hoy is from the 13th century Scandinavian Haey "The High Island" of the Orkney Islands. Hoy island is the lowermost island of the Orkneys and is 2 miles southwest of Pomona, (the mainland island) and 6 miles north of Dunnets Head, Scotland (the northermost tip of Scotland) across Pentland Firth. Hoy is hilly with Ward Hill at 1565 feet, the highest point in the British Isles. The N.W. coast has precipitous cliffs rising over 1000 feet above the sea, with "St. John's Head" the highest perpendicular cliff in Great Britain. Near-by is "The Old Man of Hoy" perhaps the best known "Stack" rock pillar in the world. The area of Hoy is about 55 square miles. The ocean currents (Gulf Stream) give a mild climate, with the Winter temperature milder than London's and practically free of snow and ice. The soil is fertile but barren of trees.

Most of the people are Scottish or Scandinavian. In early times the Celtic people lived on the Orkney Islands. The Norsemen visited the islands and ruled them from 900 to 1231. Then the Scottish people ruled them, but under the kings of Norway and Denmark. Scotland took over the Orkney Islands in 1472.

So "a Hoy" is one who came from Hoy, the high island of the Orkneys, or a dweller at a bluff or hill, or one dwelling on Hoy.

A Hoy is also a coastwise boat, usually rigged as a sloop, for carrying passengers and cargo for short distances. It is, now, also applied to a large barge. Nautical terms are "Ahoy there" and "Ship ahoy".

In connection with Scotland and Ireland we might note that, just during the Potato Blight in Ireland 1845-1849, 1½ million people died in Ireland and 1 million emigrated. Many came to America from Scotland and Ireland during this time,and earlier for freedom of religion, freedom from want, and freedom from political appression.

Robert Burns 1759-1796 wrote:

Some hae meat and canna eat,
And some wad eat that want it,
But we hae meat and we can eat,
Sae let the Lord be thankit.

A Philosophy

YOU-NIQUE

Did you ever pause to marvel
At the fact that you are you?
That by the merest chance
You're one instead of two?
At all the many factors
That have guided the human race,
To put uniquely you
In this peculiar time and place?
That the odds against your being
Were a billion to one or more,
Considering life's tenuous thread
Passed down from them of yore?
That what you are or hope to be
Is partly determined by your family tree?

"Ontogeny recapitulates Phylogeny,"
By the scientists we are told.
Or one is the sum of all his ancestors
Both those recent and of old.
They mean that the individual
Is the mirror of the race
In its rise from slimy creatures
To the maid with lovely face.
But the learned tell not all
That fills the human breast,
And makes of man a creature
Far different from the rest.

For we believe that to live and propagate
Is not man's ultimate goal,
But that God for His infinite glory
Has given him an eternal soul.
That He Who clothes the lily
And sees the sparrow's fall
Is aware of our every need
Both spiritual and temporal.
That God in His loving kindness
Holds you with tender hand,
And, like Moses, Pharoah and Columbus
You have a place in His plan.

So, lift up your head, O Mortal,
And glory in your day,
For when God saw fit to create you
He threw the plans away.
For though the genes of the ages
Are funneled in your blood,
And though the heirs of your body
Become as drops in the flood,
Remember this old adage
Which is proven, tried and true,
"That as long as the world standeth
There will never be another You".

FORWARD
FOR ONE HOY FAMILY

When Hilda Beatrice Hoy Marion (Mrs. Aubrey M. Marion) of 537 Chestnut Avenue, Waynesboro, Virginia asked me to help her with the genealogy of her family, she gave me 5 names of ancestors, viz: George Cornelius Hoy, her father; Nina Virginia Varner Hoy, her mother; George C. Hoy, her grandfather, who was reported to be "a sea captain and ship's doctor, from London, England"; Hettie J. Ross Hoy, her grandmother; and Henry Varner, her mother's father.

It wasn't long before we found that there was a branch of Hoys at Mt. Horeb Presbyterian Church area, Grottoes, Virginia, that seemed, by name usage, to be related, even though they and Hilda's family claimed that they were not related.

In the records of Shenandoah County, Virginia, Rockingham County, Virginia, and Mason County, Virginia (now West Virginia) we find one, Zachariah Hoy, whose records of County Deeds indicated that he was an "Entrepreneur" or "Wheeler-Dealer" of the first order, and Hilda, immediately wanted to claim him, because her "Daddy" was a "Wheeler-Dealer" as was her brother, Bill, and as she has proven to be, in her own right, over the years. These all dealing in land, livestock, or antiques, with fortunes made and lost.

So in our research we have tried, by using available records, to ascertain whether or not the two lines are related and whether, indeed, Zachariah passed on genes that shaped the destinies of at least 3 members of Hilda's family.

We apologize for the inadequacy of information and the paucity of early recorded and proven facts, but we have done the best we could, under the circumstances, even though we feel we have barely scratched the surface in showing that, in the main, the family has been a solid Christian influence, in the area, through the years. We have already produced a History of the Marion side of the family.

Our hope is that you, the readers, will build on what we have written to uncover new facts and correct any errors of recording or presumtion that we have made. Be charitable in your criticism and thank you.

"I wish that I could take half of me and let it be like Mamma; the other half to be like Daddy. Mama was kind hearted, patient, loving, thinking only of others. She was the best cook in the world-Homemade bread, custard, fried chicken. Her kitchen and her heart were always warm - so warm - I want to be a mother like she was. Daddy so very foresighted - a leader with intuition. I loved the way he took virtually nothing and made something very beautiful from it. He took risks and won. I often wonder if he had been educated what he could have done, but no, the common sense he possessed was worth more than any education and what he did in life was exceptional"

Aubrey Mervin "Flea" Marion b. Waynesboro, VA November 13, 1920 m. Hilda Beatrice Hoy at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, September 14, 1940, Rt. 5, Staunton, VA by Rev. J. C. Garber, at his home. Parents: H Edward M. Marion and Elizabeth Bell Critzer W George Cornelius Hoy and Nina Virginia Varner (Aug. Co. Marriage Book 3, Page 42, line 3)

Aubrey grew up in Waynesboro - Graduated Waynesboro High School. As a boy, he worked at A & P and Kroger stores. Carried Richmond Times Dispatch newspaper. He worked at DuPont Recreational Hall Bowling Alley and Lunch Room from 1938 to August 1940 when he went to work at DuPont Plant cleaning machinery, in Spinning, Throwing and all over the plant.

Aubrey went into service in 1944 US Army with Basic Training at Camp Wheeler, Macon, Georgia. He was discharged from Camp Gordon at Augusta Georgia, February 1946.

Private First Class First Cavalry Div., 8th Regiment, Troop A, Rifleman-Foot Soldier Pacific Theater with service in Phillipines and Japan. Did not see action, officially, but cleaning up isolated pockets of resistance. After service, he returned to DuPont at Waynesboro, VA in Benger Laboratory and also in Lycra. He fondly remembers his grandaddy, Tom Critzer and his grandmother, Sadie Logsdon Marion and her sister, "Aunt Ruth" Kennedy.

Hilda says "In retrospect, a person of advanced age begins to reflect on the meaning of life and what their life has meant to their family, their friends, and the community."

"After surgery on my eye, at age 20, the doctor advised me to take a year's rest from college and I decided to pursue my ambition of becoming a nurse-missionary. A friend told me about a couple in our church (Brethren) who needed someone to take care of them. So I decided, since I was at loose ends, that this would be a good opportunity to find out if I wanted to go this route."

"At this time I met "Flea" on a blind date. He was persistent in his courtship and we became engaged 6 months later. Four months later, in September 1940, we were married and I started on a new career of marriage and homemaker with "Flea" making $12.00 a week. We bought $100 worth of furniture $10 down and $10 a month, living in a 2 room apartment in Staunton."

"When Jan was born, we moved into a house with my brother Bill and his wife, Anne. A year later we moved to Waynesboro to a little house on Highland Avenue next to Grandma Sadie, which we rented from "Flea's" uncle, George Marion. Carole was born there in 1943. After Carole was born, we moved back to Staunton and bought a house on Marr Street for $4,000 where Donny was born in 1944 and where we lived for about 6 years during which time "Flea" was in service. During the war years, we had $80 a month to live on, with $35 of that going to house payments. We practically lived out of our "Victory Garden". Jan when about 3 years old said, "Mamma, please don't make me eat anymore spinach!"

"Flea came back from service in 1946 and resumed his work at DuPont in Waynesboro. After several years of commuting, "Flea" got tired of the hassle and we sold our house in Staunton and moved to Waynesboro, renting a house on DuPont Blvd. For the first 15 years of our married life we did not have a car, but walked everywhere we wished to go, and enjoyed doing so."

"My ideal of the perfect family was 4 children (ideally with 2 girls and 2 boys) but after being so ill, when Donny was born, and unable to have more children naturally, we conceived Nancy in our hearts and she came to us in 1954 and has been a joy to all of us ever since.

"In 1956 we bought our present house at 537 Chestnut Avenue in Waynesboro, VA for $8,500, which was all we could afford in addition to sending 4 children to college on "Flea's" salary, which was less than $5,000 a year at that time. In the early 1960's with 3 children in college, I went to work as Cashier at Waynesboro High School Cafeteria; at Woodworth Animal Hospital and at babysitting at night, plus helping to take care of "Flea's" mother, who was ill with cancer. This period of my life was the most stressful and exhausting and I decided to go to night school and get my degree in business. I received my diploma from Elizabeth Brant School of Business, in Staunton, VA in 1963, the year after "Flea's" mother died and I started my business The Crackerbarrel "The Consignment Shop" with a friend for a year, and then with my daughter, Carole, as a partner, for the past 27 years."

Pie Safe: Return to Down-Home Cooking

By CHARLES CULBERTSON
N-V Staff Writer

FISHERSVILLE — From the outside it looks like one of a thousand nondescript roadside businesses that flourished in the days before interstates carved up the landscape.

Unless you're looking for it, you might even pass it by without notice.

However, walk through the front door of The Pie Safe and get ready for an experience like none since — well, since your mother patted you on the head and admonished you to eat your vegetables.

Here, in a white frame building on U.S. 250 in Fishersville, home cooking so good it tingles the tastebuds is featured as the lunchtime norm. Here, friendly service and a casual, country, down-home atmosphere makes the culinary adventurer wonder why cardboard hamburgers at fast-food restaurants ever became popular in the first place.

At the helm of this small, family-run business is a 71-year-old woman who does all the cooking. Every morning she prepares the mid-day meals from scratch, and every day the menu is different.

Hilda Marion is a woman who is driven by the quest for quality and for giving the customer his or her money's worth. It is an ethic the Bridgewater native and Waynesboro resident learned while growing up on a farm where huge meals were prepared for the farm hands.

"I'm used to piling up the food," said Mrs. Marion. "I don't believe in skimpy portions. But to control waste, we do ask if the customer wants a small, medium or large portion."

Each day she prepares three varieties of meats, all of which are baked to eliminate grease and to give health-conscious diners a sense that what they are eating won't kill them somewhere down the road.

Also on hand each day are freshly prepared vegetables, salads, burgers, sandwiches and healthful fruit cups.

There is even a dish whose name, "Donna's Mess," might turn off diners whose curiosity languishes somewhere with their sense of adventure. The "mess" is simply a sampling of whatever happens to be in the kitchen that day. Seldom are two plates of "Donna's Mess" alike, but each sports a hearty, well-balanced meal.

And the platter lunches, which generally consist of enough salad, meat, mashed potatoes, vegetables and bread to feed the Confederate army, currently cost only $4.

In addition to the sumptuous, home-cooked meals and the prices that harken to a day when you got what you paid for, The Pie Safe features an informal, clean, country atmosphere where it is not unusual for customers to talk across the room to each other, or for Mrs. Marion and her family of co-workers to chat with customers through the kitchen serving window.

And, unlike nine-tenths of restaurants

PIE SAFE

everywhere, when you finish eating you can step next door to a six-room antiques and collectibles store where the prices are just as reasonable, and perhaps even negotiable.

Although Mrs. Marion has only operated The Pie Safe since April, her connection to the site goes back to the 1930s. Her brother, Bill, established what is now The Pie Safe as Hill Top Restaurant. Mrs. Marion admits that Hill Top was actually more of a bar and dancing establishment, but one that attracted people from miles around.

Through the years several businesses operated out of the building, the last being Peck's Barbecue, which now is located in Waynesboro. The idea for The Pie Safe originated two years ago with Mrs. Marion's niece, who sold it to Mrs. Marion this year.

Assisting Mrs. Marion, and truly defining the term "family business," are her niece, Linda Bell, who handles the baking of pastries; niece Donna Hartzog, for whom "Donna's Mess" is named, who performs bookeeping and ordering chores; granddaughter Jessica Lowry, who waitresses and runs the catering part of the business when she isn't studying to be a nurse; and Bernie Lowry, Jessica's husband, who put The Pie Safe on the advertising map when he painted the hours of operation on a large rowboat and stuck it in front of the restaurant.

Jody Marion turned the interior of the Pie Safe from a dirty, delapidated storage area into a quaint, clean and enjoyable place to eat.

Mrs. Marion's son, Don, who serves as a doctor at Cornell University, occasionally drops by to make perhaps the finest pasta salad ever to caress a palate.

And, believe it or not, when Mrs. Marion doesn't have family members to help, the customers themselves pitch in. Diners may do a double-take, but those really are customers carrying dishes to the kitchen, writing up their own tickets and serving themselves.

"This is more of a homeplace where you can come to eat, rather than a restaurant," said Mrs. Marion, who subscribes to the philosophy that the customer should always rank first.

The Pie Safe also is rapidly becoming a local leader in catering dinners, special events, picnics and, of course, carryout orders.

The normal hours of operation for The Pie Safe are Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Special events may be set up by calling the restaurant at 886-8451.

"It was through this business that I realized my dream of being a missionary to mankind, without going to a foreign country. It has been exciting, challenging, productive, soul satisfying, and second only to my family, has been my "raison d'etre" (reason for living)".

"My philosphy for life is sumed up by Micah 6:8 "What doth God require of thee, O man, but to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God?" My religious training has been to love God first, to love self last and to treat everyone as a brother."

"The mind has a tendency to remember only what is good. In my lifetime, I have tried to build only good memories for my children, my grandchildren, my husband, and my friends. Fond memories are greater treasure than all the gold and silver of the world."

Grace Hoy Delaney daughter of George Cornelius Hoy said "Hettie was beautiful but lacked the social graces that George wanted in a woman. She wouldn't dress up and entertain so he left and went to Oklahoma (Tulsa - Hilda says) where he raised another family without getting a divorce." Ed Hoy's (brother of George Cornelius) descendants say that when George C. Hoy died in Oklahoma that Georgie (Ed and Ella's daughter) went to Oklahoma and claimed the inheritance, saying she was the sole heir. Hilda Hoy Marion says she is not sure of this but had always heard this and knew it was hushed up.

AUGUSTA TRAGEDY.

Perry Hoy's Funeral-Abe Hoy Leaves Hospital-May Recover.

Staunton, Va., May 11.—Friends and relatives gathered in large numbers at the United Brethren church yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral of Perry Hoy, the first victim of Sunday's tragedy in the county. The services, which were conducted by Rev. Geo. W. Stover, were very impressive. Interment was made in Thornrose cemetery.

Young Hoy's tragic death, together with that of little Cletis Higgs, has excited the greatest sympathy and many people who are entire strangers to the bereaved families were present at the church yesterday.

Abe Hoy, the young man who was severely wounded in the legs and shoulder in the shooting affray near Staunton Sunday in which Perry Hoy and little Cletis Higgs were killed, left the King's Daughters' Hospital here last evening and was taken to his home near Christian's Creek. He is believed to be on the way to recovery, as the shots were removed at the hospital and he was otherwise greatly benefitted by the brief treatment there.

Edwin Higgs, the elderly man who was also badly wounded, is reported slowly improving and will, it is thought, soon recover from his injuries.

The tragedy is still talked about on all sides and is generally conceded to have been the worst affair of the kind recorded here in a long time.

As yet no date has been set for the preliminery hearing of Arch Brown who did the shooting. Brown is still in jail in this city.

QUARREL OVER CRAP GAME

Arch Brown Went Away Angry, Returned with Gun and Opened Fire, Killing Perry Hoy and Little Cletis Higgs, and Frightfully Wounding Edward Higgs and Abe Hoy—Brown Surrendered.

Special to Daily News. 1918

Staunton, Va., May 8.—Two persons are dead and two others are believed to be fatally injured as the result of a shooting scrape this afternoon on Christian's Creek, about three miles south of this city, following a crap game earlier in the day. The dead are Perry Hoy and Cletis Higgs, the latter being the seventeen-year-old son of Edward Higgs. The wounded are Edward Higgs and Abe Hoy. The shooing was done by Arch Brown.

Brown and Abe Hoy, who are understood to have been drinking, quarreled this morning while throwing dice, but parted and went their respective ways without any attempt at violence. This afternoon a crowd gathered at the home of James Sheets, a neighbor, Abe and Perry Hoy, who are brothers, being among those present. Brown came to the house about 2 o'clock, armed with a "pump" shot gun, all five chambers of which were loaded with buckshot. He immediately opened fire, shooting at Abe Hoy, but missed his mark and sent a shot through Perry Hoy's hat. At the next crack of the gun Perry Hoy fell dead, shot through the breast. Cletis Higgs was the next to fall. The child was struck in the neck. The little boy's father, a man of considerable age, was frightfully wounded also, being hit in the side, near the kidney.

Dashing through the house in pursuit of Abe Hoy, Brown came upon his man at last and shot him four times, putting seven buckshot into his body. Hoy's wounds are scattered. Two or three of the wounds are believed to be fatal, and it is thought that the wounds of Higgs must also result in death.

Perry Hoy was 21 years old. Abe Hoy is about 25.

After the shooting Brown came to this city and surrendered himself. He is well known here, where he has been a defendant in police court on one or two occasions.

It is said that after Brown quarreled with Abe Hoy he went to the home of a man named Irving for whom he worked, and there procured and loaded the gun with which the shooting was done, saying he meant to use it to kill dogs which had been after the sheep

Conclusions:

according to 1850 census Elizabeth would have been born 1760 to 1770

according to 1850 census Christian Grandle would have been born 1785

By deduction of marriageable age Elizabeth could have been born about 1765

Therefore by 1810 she would have been ~~45~~ close to 45

Godfrey logically would probably have been 45 plus (see 1810 census).

according to 1850 census Christian Grandle was born 1785 + Elijah 1790

If we say Catherine Grandle was 16 in 1810 she would have been born in 1794 and been 24 yrs old when William Perry McCall was born in 1818

Next Page → according to the 1830 Census Jesse McCall was 30 to 40 + Catherine was 40 to 50 which would have meant she was born 1780-1790 or about same age as Elijah.

In 1840 Jesse was 30 to 40 + Catherine was 40 to 50 so we could expect Jesse would be about 40 or born in 1800 + Catherine would have been about 40 in 1830 and about 50 in 1840 so we could say Jesse was born about 1800 + Catherine born about 1790 to 1794

I suspect that Christian Grandle had married by 1820 and his wife had died, possibly in childbirth. We do not find him in Rockingham Co until 1840 when he was living alone. By 1850 he had married Nannal who was 5 yrs older than he.

I believe Christian Grandle + Elijah Grandle were Catherine's brothers + Godfrey - Elizabeth were Catherines parents. apparently, according to 1810 + 1820 censuses there were at least 3 younger male siblings

Now lets look at the McCalls + Catherine Grandle

The 1830 Census Rockingham Co. page 204 shows under Jesse McCall

Therefore George C. Hoy is the owner of 3/5 interest in 86½ acres and Nina V. Hoy is the owner of 1/5 interest in 86½ acres Remaining 1/5 interest was awarded to Charles Varner subject to Widows Dower. So:- 46 acres plus 94 acres = 140 acres less 13½ acres = 126½ acres less 39½ acres sold by Chancery Suit of Varner Administrator vs. Varner infants = 86 acres valued at $20 per acre or $1720. Also see Lien Docket 8 page 262.

D1 William Hoy

I find the consideration of D1, D2, The Mt. Horeb Hoys and E1 Zachariah Hoy very confusing. If we could go back 100 to 150 years we could probably untangle the web without difficulty. We shall do the best we can with the records we have been able to find. In some cases we go on pure conjecture without positive proof.

D1 William Hoy was born about 1798 to 1800 probably in Rockingham County. He married Mary Ann Barton nee' Garland the daughter of Clifton Garland of Albemarle County June 11, 1832. D3 Joseph B. Ross

The facts of Ross relationships are lost in antiquity but we will try to sort them out as best we can.

The name of Ross is Scottish meaning one who came from Rossshire, or dwells on a promonitory or peninsula. Ross and Cromarty is a shire in N. W. Scotland with Dingwall as the County Seat. Sir John Ross was created Lord Ross in 1489. John McDonald, the 11th. Earl of Ross died about 1498. George Ross 1730-1784 from Lancaster County, Penn. was a signer of the Declaration of Independance. Betsy Ross, born Philadelphia 1752, died 1836, was reported by descendants to have made the American Flag, but no evidence exists that she did and most historians doubt it.

Three famous men by the name of Alexander Ross were born in Scotland. A clergyman, a Poet and Schoolmaster, and a Fur Trader and Pioneer in America who went in 1810 with John Jacob Astor's expedition to Oregan.

Sir James Clark Ross 1800-1862 English Navigator and Artic Explorer served with his uncle, Sir John Ross and W. E. Perry on their artic expedition.

(I wonder if this is the basis for the Hoy family tradition that George C. Hoy, Hilda's grandfather, was reputed to be "a sea captain and ship's doctor from London, England").

Our first confirmed date for Joseph B. Ross is recorded in Rockingham Co., VA Marriage Bonds and Licenses 1817-1855 page 465 in Court House at Harrisonburg, Virginia.

Know all men by these presents, that we Joseph B.Ross and Willis Herring are held firmly bound unto His Excellency James pleasants, Esquire, Governor of Virginia and His Successors, for use of the Commonwealth in the sum of One Hundred and Fifty Dollars to which payment well and truly to be made, we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors, and administrators, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents. Sealed and dated 22nd of October 1825 in the 80th year of the Commonwealth.

The Condition of the above obligation is such that whereas a marriage is shortly intended to be solemnized between the above bound Joseph B. Ross and Winney Roach, the daughter of Abraham (I believe this should be Absalom Roach, JBW) Roach of Rockingham Co., if therefore there should be no lawful cause to obstruct the said marriage, the above obligation to be void," otherewise to remain in full force and virtue signed, sealed and delivered

James Clark

Joseph B. Ross
Willis Hearin

I believe Winney's father was Absalom Roach because she and Joseph had a son Absalom and Rockingham Deeds 1778 - 1863 show deeds for an Absalom Rooch in 1819 but no records anyplace for an Abraham Rooch.

This seems a good place to explain Marriage Bonds & Marriage Register

In 1660/1661 the law requiring a bond was first enacted. Because of a scarcity of ministers, the Colony required that all persons wishing to be married by license must go to the County Court Clerk and give bond with sufficient security (usually $150 by the 19th century) that there was no lawful cause to prevent the marriage. The license was prepared by the clerk and presented to the minister who would perform the ceremony and then return the license to the clerk.

Marriage Records; Marriage Register

During the Colonial Period, the law required that every marriage be recorded in a true and perfect Parish Register. After 1780, ministers were required to report all marriages to the County Court Clerk whose duty it was to see that the returns were entered in a book kept for that purpose. The County Record books are sometimes titled "Marriage Records" or "Marriage Register" although true "registers" as defined by law did not begin until 1853. (NB Marriage records, births and deaths are very elusive and skimpy, or non-existant in many County Court records.

These Shenandoah County Rosses were probably related to the Augusta County Rosses (Uncles or cousins)

Augusta Co., VA Will Book 1 p. 36A shows a Robert Ross recorded 1751 Will Book 11 p. 265 dated 1813 shows William Ross (Sr.?)

I believe that William Ross (Sr.) was the father of at least 3 boys. 1810 Census Augusta Co., p. 378 shows William 45 plus, wife 45 plus, so born by 1765; 1 boy 10-16 (Joseph b. 1797?); 1 boy 16-26 (William Jr. b. 1790?); I believe other boy, David, who follows this was already married i.e. 1 girls 16-26 (b. 1784 to 1794?)

In the cemetary at Mt. Sidney back of the AMP plant we find tombstones:

1860 Census Aug. Co. shows James E. Ross 47'
Elizabeth Ross 45
George C. Ross 20

Augusta County Will Book 19 p 182 Aug. 7, 1833 shows that James E. Ross was certified as Lieut 52nd Regiment of Infantry, 7th Brigade and 3rd Division of Virginia Militia..

I believe James E. Ross was the son of David Ross(above) and that Bettie J. Ross was his wife and George Craig Ross was the son. The 1860 Census of Augusta Co. shows James E. Ross 47, Elizabeth Ross 45, and George C. Ross 20. It seems reasonable to assume that perhaps Betty J. Ross (1850 Census) 9 was named for her Aunt and later became Hettie J. Ross - who knows now? But what a shame that father and son - James E. Ross and George Craig Ross, were both sacrificed for a lost cause.

David Ross was listed in Will Book of Augusta Co., Va. 1856 Book 6 pages 151, 234, 237, 484; Book 7 p. 329; Book 9 p. 302; Book 12 p. 257; 1858 Book 11 p. 479; Book 18 p. 60, 61, and 245.

A great deal of information may be gained from the Censuses which are taken every 10 years. The first Census was enumerated in 1790 at the request of President Washington to ascertain how many men he could count on for the military. The 1800 Census was not taken. The Censuses through 1840 did not name the children so it is a puzzle to put names and ages to numbers The last Census is 1910 as Congress ruled that a Census could not become public until 75 years after being taken, Now 1920!

So in trying to ascertain the names and ages of the children of Joseph and Winnie Ross we procede as follows:

At a court held for Albemarle County the 2nd day of May 1814

This Instrument of writing purporting to be the last will and testament of Clifton Garland, deceased, was produced into court and proved by the oath of William Brown and Tandy Morris, two of the subscribing witnesses thereto, and ordered to be recorded

Teste John Nicholas C.A.C.

So presumably Clifton Garland was the uncle of Clifton Garland E3.
Possibly James Garland was F5 and Nathaniel Garland G11(?)

* To her + her heirs forever. I also give to the said Margaret Steel my horse etc.

Philip Eckard (E19), "The Pioneer", appears to have had these children: 1.
